

State v. Eric O'Donnell:

In October 2006, Eric O'Donnell was tried for First Degree Robbery. In this case Mr. O'Donnell has a long history of violence and drugs. The challenging aspect of this case is that the victim was a prostitute who had very little faith in the system and was very unreliable. However, she had the courage to show up for trial, testified and Mr. O'Donnell was convicted. He was sentenced to more than nine years in state prison.
