Notice of Propositions for June 2002 Election

Pending before the voters of the City of Spokane Valley, Washington is the question of whether to authorize the Board of Fire Commissioners of the Fire Protection District No. 8, Spokane County, to levy excess property taxes at the approximate levy rate of $0.000140 per $100 of assessed value to fund the District's operating and maintenance expenses. This proposition would authorize the extension of total property for unassessed real and personal property located within the boundaries of the District. The levy rate would be used for the purpose of paying for the cost of fire protection, including but not limited to the cost of fire fighting apparatus, equipment, and the cost of providing and maintaining fire protection facilities and services. The levy rate would be paid in the form of an annual tax on the property located within the boundaries of the District. The levy rate would be payable in the year following the assessment of the property. The levy rate would be collected in the manner prescribed by law. The levy rate would be used to fund the District's operating and maintenance expenses, including but not limited to the cost of fire protection, including but not limited to the cost of fire fighting apparatus, equipment, and the cost of providing and maintaining fire protection facilities and services.

The proposition is known as Proposition No. 1 Operations and Maintenance Excess Levy. The proposition requires a simple majority vote (more votes in favor than against) for passage. The proposition will be in effect for a period of four years from the date of its adoption.

The proposition will be submitted to the voters of the City of Spokane Valley, Washington, at the June 2002 election. The election will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Washington State Election Code. The proposition will be voted on at the polls on the day of the election, which is June 11, 2002. The proposition will be approved if a majority of the voters voting on the proposition vote in favor of the proposition.

The proposition will be submitted to the voters of the City of Spokane Valley, Washington, at the June 2002 election. The election will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Washington State Election Code. The proposition will be voted on at the polls on the day of the election, which is June 11, 2002. The proposition will be approved if a majority of the voters voting on the proposition vote in favor of the proposition.

Proposition No. 1 Operations and Maintenance Excess Levy

The proposition is known as Proposition No. 1 Operations and Maintenance Excess Levy. The proposition requires a simple majority vote (more votes in favor than against) for passage. The proposition will be in effect for a period of four years from the date of its adoption.

The proposition will be submitted to the voters of the City of Spokane Valley, Washington, at the June 2002 election. The election will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Washington State Election Code. The proposition will be voted on at the polls on the day of the election, which is June 11, 2002. The proposition will be approved if a majority of the voters voting on the proposition vote in favor of the proposition.

Proposition No. 1 Operations and Maintenance Excess Levy

The proposition is known as Proposition No. 1 Operations and Maintenance Excess Levy. The proposition requires a simple majority vote (more votes in favor than against) for passage. The proposition will be in effect for a period of four years from the date of its adoption.

The proposition will be submitted to the voters of the City of Spokane Valley, Washington, at the June 2002 election. The election will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Washington State Election Code. The proposition will be voted on at the polls on the day of the election, which is June 11, 2002. The proposition will be approved if a majority of the voters voting on the proposition vote in favor of the proposition.

Proposition No. 1 Operations and Maintenance Excess Levy

The proposition is known as Proposition No. 1 Operations and Maintenance Excess Levy. The proposition requires a simple majority vote (more votes in favor than against) for passage. The proposition will be in effect for a period of four years from the date of its adoption.

The proposition will be submitted to the voters of the City of Spokane Valley, Washington, at the June 2002 election. The election will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Washington State Election Code. The proposition will be voted on at the polls on the day of the election, which is June 11, 2002. The proposition will be approved if a majority of the voters voting on the proposition vote in favor of the proposition.

Proposition No. 1 Operations and Maintenance Excess Levy

The proposition is known as Proposition No. 1 Operations and Maintenance Excess Levy. The proposition requires a simple majority vote (more votes in favor than against) for passage. The proposition will be in effect for a period of four years from the date of its adoption.

The proposition will be submitted to the voters of the City of Spokane Valley, Washington, at the June 2002 election. The election will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Washington State Election Code. The proposition will be voted on at the polls on the day of the election, which is June 11, 2002. The proposition will be approved if a majority of the voters voting on the proposition vote in favor of the proposition.