A T T E N T I O N

**At the time you present your proposed final parenting plan to a Judge or Court Commissioner for signature, a new law now requires them to run a background check on both parents. If that background check includes matters that could put children at risk of harm, the judicial officer may ask you or the other parent to explain and answer questions about your background record. In most cases you can probably satisfy the judicial officer conducting the review that your children are not at risk and he/she will finalize your parenting plan the way you prepared it. In some cases you may be asked to bring in additional documents or the court may appoint a Guardian ad Litem to make a more in-depth investigation and report back to the court at a later date. If this happens, the case will remain open and the proposed parenting plan will not be approved until you have brought in the necessary paperwork or the independent investigation has been completed and all necessary safeguards to protect your children are in place.

NOTE: All of the above mentioned forms can be found on the Washington State Court website: www.courts.wa.gov/forms.

The Family Court Facilitator, Room 200, Family Law Center, is available to review your documents and answer procedural questions. It is recommended you have all documents reviewed before filing and presenting to the court.
